Guests: John Baldwin, Barbara Archer-Baldwin

Four Corners Gallery Show

Going live on December 15th with registration and deadlines. Dates and reception for the show have been set. May enter up to two paintings per artist for a total of 60 paintings, any size. Commission: price accordingly for this. If purchaser is a member of the gallery, the gallery gets 60%, 40% to artist. If a non-gallery member purchases, the gallery gets 50% and the artist gets 50%.

Hanging the show:

will go over hanging supplies during the holiday potluck.

Everyone fills out forms for taxes for art sales.

The show needs sitters:

The gallery has someone for the mornings. TPS fills in during afternoons. If you're accepted into the show, you must sit the gallery. Becky will send out notice and a sign-up sheet for this. Allowed to paint while sitting the gallery, bring your supplies.

If nobody is available to sit, the doors will be locked.

Receiving day for the show will be the show committee; will receive and hang on the same day.

Gallery lowered their price for renting the auditorium for Tony Allain's demo/workshop. Need to cover our costs on rental and payment for Tony. Much to take care of and prepare while many of our members are attending Tony's 3-day workshop. We won't need the auditorium for the demo.

International Web Show online

Awards for the show:

Barbara and Becky are working on some of this. Barbara will check with Pastel Live for potential awards. Becky will check with Posner's. We can also check with AZ Picture Frame, McBrides, and Poster Warehouse

Holiday Potluck

13 have signed up, food, gifts. Will have a smaller group attending this year.

Burglary...again

Tuesday, Dec. 3rd, Becky found the door to the shed had been busted and opened. Brian welded some areas for now and replacing with a new door. Talked about putting a code on the door. It's expensive but a possibility. Lynn suggested the front part of the building be used as a rental for security - overnight stays to help guard the building.

Meeting adjourned 1:50pm.

Respectfully submitted,
Jeanne Conant Kramer, Secretary
